Teresa Ghirladucci, an economics professor and retirement specialist at the New School for Social Research in New York says, “the baby boomers will be the first generation that will do worse in retirement than their parents and the next generation of retirees will do a lot worse; they [will] fall off a cliff.”

Among the many reasons for this is the disappearance of traditional pensions, increasing life expectancy and insufficient savings. Particularly troublesome is that millions of Americans are so lackadaisical about planning and saving for retirement.

Failure to plan for retirement should not be an option. “Conventional Wisdom” and “Conventional Strategies” are clearly not sufficient. Now is the time to explore the “Cutting Edge” techniques that can make the difference between your personal success or failure!
